

MYLEENE KASS SHOWS OFF HER EXCLUSIVE NEW RANGE OF SWIMWEAR

Underwater babe

MOVE over Elle Macpherson – there's a new body in town.

Gorgeous Myleene Klass has stripped off, again and is making her bid to conquer the swimwear world.

The 39-year-old has taken the plunge for her sizzling new photoshoot, posing underwater.

But naturally this wonder woman was not fazed by a little soaking, even if it did mean learning to hold her breath and having a team of lifeguards standing by.

She says: "I absolutely loved the experience of shooting underwater. My dad was a navy diver, so I've grown up splashing around in the ocean but this shoot was one I'll never forget."

"With three safety divers on hand and the challenge of shoot-

By Jennifer Dunkerley

ing my swimwear whilst maintaining the right level in the water and removing the bubbles from my face as well as keeping the look as ethereal as possible in one breath was no mean feat.

"It was the most physically challenging shoot I've ever done."

"I had to micro manage my breath to float at the right distance from the bottom of the pool, remove bubbles from my face for the photographer all whilst trying to look composed!"

"I'm so excited by the results."

Myleene recently returned from a sunshine break to the glamorous paradise isle of Mauritius, where she was flaunting her fabulous figure.

Which is why no doubt, after making her name in that famous white bikini in the I'm A Celeb jungle, she's now a bit of a swimwear expert.

Of her holiday she says: "I bought a boat trip to go swimming with dolphins in the wild with my babies. It was the most awesome purchase I've ever made!"

"Clothes wise I also needed a sun hat to stop the blonde in my hair going blonder... it didn't work!"

Modelling a collection of swimwear and glamorous bikinis for littlwoods.com, the collection features island-style leaf prints and bright corals, as well as stunning metallic gold pieces and a classic white bikini.

It features items adorned with gold metal rings and tassels across both halter neck and bandeau styles. The sleek one-pieces are designed in a dattering cut out style.

"My swimwear is perfect for summer 2016, with my designs embracing bold prints and metallic tones," says Myleene.

"I want girls who wear my designs to enjoy and feel good in them."

Myleene adds: "I love strong, capable, fun fearless women who look confident in their own skin, like JLo, Beyonce, Rihanna, Angelina Jolie. They might all have different body shapes and styles but ultimately they are leaders."

And her top tip for women looking to buy their summer bikinis?

She laughs: "Shimmy in it! No joke! It hits pop out when you wiggle, then they'll no doubt do the same in the pool or the sea!"

● Myleene's latest collection is available online now from littlwoods.com.